

Women's Singles and Men's Doubles in Final Stage at Columbia Country Club

MISSSES BAKER AND DUFOR SCHEDULED IN WOMEN'S FINALS

C. B. Doyle and Harold Selden Booked to Face Gore and Treanor.

MISS A. M. DOYLE LOSES

"Monk" Mayfield and F. T. Richards Eliminated in Men's Doubles.

Miss Eva Baker and Miss Arline Dufour meet in the finals of the women's singles of the Columbia Country Club tournament, while C. B. Doyle and Harold Selden meet A. J. Gore and Paul Treanor in the finals of the men's doubles. The latter match is booked for 3 o'clock, while the fair tennis players are booked to start their match at 4 o'clock. Play in the other classes which have not yet been completed is scheduled to be resumed at 2 o'clock today.

Miss Baker defeated Miss A. M. Doyle in straight sets, but the play was sent to twenty-three games and the winner was forced to extend herself to establish an advantage. The score, 6-3 and 6-5. Miss Baker was sent to the post a favorite and her victory was not entirely a surprise. Her chief point of superiority seemed to lie in ability to place the ball with ease. Miss Baker also excelled in serving.

Connie Doyle and Horace Selden took the measure of "Monk" Mayfield and F. T. Richards by 6-1 and 6-2. Selden, a veritable child, showed more confidence than at any time during the tournament and was a fitting partner for his estimable partner. This pair played a snap-bang style of tennis and ran their opponents off their feet. It was an absorbing competition and the gallery lent its interest throughout every minute of play. Gore and Treanor took an equally decisive match from L. I. Doyle and Horace Barber by figures of 6-0 and 6-1. Although the former were favorites, it was hardly expected that the result would be so one-sided. Miss Kate DuBoise and C. B. Doyle won from Miss Eva Baker and Paul Treanor, 6-2 and 6-2.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.
Semifinal—Miss Eva Baker defeated Miss A. M. Doyle, 6-3, 6-5.
MEN'S DOUBLES.
Semifinal—J. Gore and Paul Treanor defeated L. I. Doyle and Horace Barber, 6-0, 6-1; C. B. Doyle and Horace Selden defeated F. T. Richards and E. J. Richards, 6-1, 6-2.
MEN'S CONSOLATION SINGLES.
First round—F. T. Richards defeated T. J. Heald, 6-2, 6-2.
Second round—J. B. Beadle defeated George Fox, 6-1, 6-2; Ezra Gould defeated H. A. Stuts, 6-0, 6-2; F. T. Richards defeated F. S. Avery, 6-1, 6-5; L. H. Brown defeated D. C. Smith, 6-0, 6-0.

MIXED DOUBLES.
First round—Miss A. M. Doyle and L. I. Doyle defeated Mrs. Halbert and A. B. Heaton by default; Miss Kate DuBoise and C. B. Doyle defeated Miss Eva Baker and Paul Treanor, 6-2, 6-2; Mrs. Healy and Thurston West defeated Miss Janet Payne and Franklin Green, 6-4, 6-2; Miss Florence Smith and Pulford defeated Miss Edna Carson and A. V. Leach, Jr., 6-2, 10-8, 6-2.
Second round—Miss Ethel Smith and Gould Lincoln defeated Miss Arline Dufour and A. J. Gore, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

WOMEN'S CONSOLATION SINGLES.

Three of Dartmouth's Punters Improved

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 10.—The Dartmouth football squad drilled only in the late afternoon yesterday. Coach Cavanaugh was able to get four teams running through signals, but nothing strenuous was tried. Considerable attention is being paid to the punting of Gerrish, Thielacher and Cotton, who have improved much since last year. Cavanaugh shifted Harrows, last year's strong substitute line man, to the backfield. He weighs nearly 190 pounds.

East Meets West In Forest Hill Tennis

Behr and McLoughlin Take On Pell and Bundy—The Champion and Ex-Champion Booked for Tomorrow.

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Sept. 10.—Play in the East vs. West tennis series will begin this afternoon at the West Side Tennis Club courts in Forest Hills. The matches of singles and one of doubles are on the card for today and a like schedule will wind up the tilt tomorrow. Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, will meet Karl H. Behr, of New York, and Thomas C. Bundy, of Los Angeles, will play Theodore R. Pell, of New York, in the singles.

The doubles, starting immediately after the completion of the singles, or about 3:30, will bring together the new championship, William M. Johnston-Clarence J. Griffin combination and the Eastern champions, Watson M. Washburn and the dethroned singles titleholder, Richard Morris Williams. A great deal of interest is attached to the meeting of McLoughlin, erstwhile king of the courts, and the temperamental Behr, because of the result of their last contest. Behr played about the best tennis of his career when he downed McLoughlin, and naturally the latter was anxious to show that there was no fluke in that victory. McLoughlin, who was testing the backcourt game when Behr beat him, probably will return to this old style of game, the kind that proved effective against every one but Johnston, in an effort to square the account. As a matter of fact, the winner of this match will have the edge on the loser, for the former have met only twice in their career, and each has gained a victory. Besides the settling of the personal difference, the match will have a great bearing on the rating of the tennis triumvirate, which was extended to a quartet during the tournament just finished.

The Pell-Bundy match does not look as if it should be a very startling affair. The New Yorker, who has made a great bid for the first ten and has victories over Johnston, Griffin, and Washburn to back up his bid, ought to score a point for the East over Bundy, who has had very little practice this year. There is no reason why the national champions should not win the doubles. They have beaten the Williams-Washburn team hitherto this season.

Tomorrow's matches look a little better with champion and ex-champion meeting in the singles. Lots of followers of the game believe that Williams has a good chance of beating the champion, but if the younger player the way he did against the Philadelphia in the national championship the outcome should be the same. The other singles match will bring together Griffin and Nat Niles, of Boston, and should prove an even affair. The doubles in which McLoughlin and Bundy will strive against last year's Eastern champions, Pell and Behr, ought to be a hummer. It will settle the old question as to which is the better team, brought up last year when the Davis cup selection was made. At that time many thought that the Pell-Behr combination would prove a more formidable opponent for Brooks and Wilding than the Pacific coast pair.

There will be no reserved seats at the international matches. Over seven thousand seats will be in readiness, first come first served, for a general admission of $1.

YALE WINS COLLEGE GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Blue Downs Princeton by Five Points to Four, Extra Hole Necessary.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 10.—Yale defeated Princeton, five points to four, in the final match for the intercollegiate team golf championship on the course of the Greenwich Country Club. Princeton won the title last year at Garden City by defeating Harvard in five holes. Prior to that time Yale was the champion for nine successive years.

The issue came down to the very last pair late in the day, before the result could be determined. Princeton had the advantage of two matches to one in the four-hole match, one of these going to the eighteenth green. Then in the singles, the score stood 3 to 2, evening the day's score at four points each. Russell N. B. Fay, of Princeton, and F. S. Gaines, Yale, finished all square at the eighteenth.

It was Fay who faltered, for he placed his drive into the sand trap and overplayed the green on his second, while Gaines laid his approach virtually dead and holed out for a three and the match, which carried the decisive point to Yale. Summaries:

FOUR-BALL MATCH.
Fay and Herron, Princeton, defeated Pierce and Gardner, Yale, 4 and 2; Mudgie and Bredin, Yale, defeated Corkran and Herron, Princeton, 3 and 2; Rose and Lawry, Princeton, defeated Gaines and Armstrong, Yale, 1 up.

SINGLES.
Mudgie, Yale, defeated Corkran, Princeton, 4 and 3; Herron, Princeton, defeated Bredin, Yale, 4 and 3; Gardner, Princeton, defeated Rose, Yale, 4 and 2; Pearce, Princeton, defeated Pierce, Yale, 6 and 5; Gaines, Yale, defeated Fay, Princeton, 1 up (19 holes); Armstrong, Yale, defeated Lawry, Princeton, 3 and 2.

WOMEN'S CONSOLATION SINGLES.
First round—Miss Ethel Smith defeated Mrs. Halbert, 7-5, 6-0.
Semifinal—Miss Hazel Priest defeated Miss Eukelia Lamsburg, 6-3, 6-2.

Shore Wins With One Hit, But Tyler Loses

Red Sox Hurler Gets Good Support When Athletics Are Shut Out at 5 to 0—Fans Eight Philadelphia Batters.

Ernie Shore, the lanky finger of the Red Sox, hung up a record performance yesterday when he held the Athletics to one hit, winning 5 to 0. He had luck with him. Over in the National League George Tyler held Brooklyn to one hit, and lost, 1 to 0, which goes to show how tough luck may be in our great national pastime.

Shore was given faultless support in his contest with the Athletics, with several well-placed bingles. He fanned eight of the enemy just to hold up his end of the combat.

George Tyler, the Braves' finger, gave the Dodgers one hit but luck was against him, and he lost out. He walked Myers in the second frame. Gus Getz followed with a weak hit to the infield, and then came a double steal. Nixon's out let Myers score the only run of the contest.

The Chicago White Sox defeated the Pirates in a poorly played exhibition game, score 5 to 4. Errors predominated and the spectators were not pleased at the absence of Eddie Collins from the Chicago line-up.

The tail-end Reds jolted the Cardinals by willing a double-header, 4 to 3 in fourteen innings and 5 to 0 in six. Long tied the first game with a triple in the ninth and Dodgers won it by opening the fourteenth with a triple and scoring on Wingo's sacrifice fly. The Cardinals had seventeen men left on bases. In No. 2 Schneider was tight in the pinches, while Doak was easy in the early innings.

The Tigers nipped the Indians 4 to 5 in a long drawn out contest. The Indians used three pitchers, who gave twelve bases on balls and one of them committed a balk. The fielding of the Indians was also miserable.

Heat Keeps Army Eleven Idle a Day

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Lieut. Charles D. Daly, U. S. A., former Harvard and Army football star, who is to act as head coach to the Army football team again this year, has arrived here from his station on the Mexican border.

The intense heat kept the gridiron men idle again yesterday, and it is unlikely that they will have any work before Saturday.

A change in the secretaryship of the Masonic Duckpin League has been necessitated by reason of the resignation of L. E. Eiseman, who has found that he can not spare sufficient time from his business to give proper attention to his secretarial duties. The vacancy has been filled by the selection of James H. Richards, Jr., otherwise known as "Hub," a member of National Lodge No. 15, a well-known and popular duckpin artist, and a man of wide experience in handling affairs of this kind.

The Masons of the District, particularly those interested in bowling, are looking forward with keen anticipation to the opening night of the Masonic Duckpin League, on Monday, September 13, at 8 o'clock, on the alleys at 1821 K street northwest. That is to be a big night in Masonic and duckpin circles.

In addition to the regular games scheduled for that occasion, namely, Columbia vs. George C. Whiting, and Washington Centennial vs. King David, six other teams will participate, including the Federals vs. the Nationals, which were originally scheduled for Wednesday night. An invitation has been extended to all Masons and their friends who enjoy bowling to be present and cheer their favorites on to victory.
